

«Why presenting a solo repertoire? Certainly not to meet a challenge even if, especially on the guitar, this kind of exercise can relate to it... No, rather because after years of adapting and studying pieces for the simple pleasure of playing them I thought it would be worthwhile to present the result of this work to the public, quite simply. On the other hand, even if playing solo offers great freedom, it also requires a lot of discipline and concentration and for me, whose mind often tends to wander, the result is that I immerse myself fully in the music that I'm playing, completely in the moment.»
